Just Too Much

Nine-month-old Michael had a little too much of a good thing when father, Don Smart, 3885 Cedar Hill road, took him to Jaycees' industrial exhibition and the midway outside the Memorial arena and curling rink yesterday. Michael went to sleep, but father gamely went the rounds, saw one of two daily shows for grown-ups and one of two for children. Crowds continue to pack the fair, closing Saturday night.

Rising School Costs Chief Reason

Saanich Ratepayers To Be Charged Another $2 Per $1,000 Tax Value

Municipal Spending Up by $743,096

Saanich council last night passed a $2,427,907 budget which will mean an overall two-mill increase for taxpayers in the municipality.

The boost will mean an additional $2 per $1,000 of the taxable assessment will be required this year of taxpayers. In Saanich, 100 per cent of the land assessment and 75 per cent of the improvements assessment are taxable.

Rising school costs in districts 61 and 63 were responsible for nearly three-quarters of the hike. General and debt costs required a .54-mill increase.

Total rates in 1956 will stand at 31.5 mills for district 61 (inner) and 31 mills for district 63 (outer).

The school tax rate went up from 13.19 to 14.65 in district 61 and from 13.6 to 4.15 in district 63. Overall school hike was 1.46 mills.

General tax rate for the two districts is 16.15 mills.

MILL WORTH MORE

Value of one mill this year is $41,948, compared with $37,000 in 1955.

The $2,427,907 budget represents an increase in expenditures for 1956 of an estimated $743,096.

Before striking the mill rate, council again examined estimates and endorsed recommendations of the fire and water committee to reduce the fire department budget by $12,547 to a total of $186,107.

In order to pare the tentative 2.5-mill increase by half a mill, council voted to leave out $27,000 in fire estimates, earmarked for a new pumper. However, so the truck could be purchased this year, members agreed to switch the sum from surplus revenue to cover the cost.

A police department budget of $118,182 was also carried.

Contingency fund, boosted by $7,000 from surplus revenue, will total some $35,000 this year.

In cutting the provisional rate, Reeve Arthur Ash said he could "see no reason why we shouldn't pass the benefit of a reduction to the ratepayers from our surplus."

Besides increased school costs, the municipality's record boom budget must cover costly capital expenditures for an expanded works program and a general overhaul of the administrative system.

Included in these are such items as a $15,000 expenditure for a contour map of the municipality which will be necessary for proposed sewer and drainage projects in the future.

A $12,000 vote was set aside for salaries for a municipal administrator and assistant planning engineer, both to be hired this year.

Timothy Williams, Stewart Smith Get Highest Marks at Victoria College

Victoria students placed first and second in both years of Victoria College, according to results announced yesterday.

Timothy A. Williams, with a percentage of 96.1, led second-year students. The 18-year-old former Oak Bay high school student ranked second in his first college year but topped all the province in his matriculation examinations the year before.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Williams, 1550 Church, majors in history and plans to 'continue his university career.

Second in the second-year class is Gael H. Stott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stott, 1949 Crescent, with 92.8 per cent. A consistent winner of scholastic honors, Gael topped her first-year class at Victoria College and achieved third-highest marks in the province on matriculation from Oak Bay high school in 1954.

Seventeen-year-old A. J. Stewart Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smith, 1255 Oscar, headed first-year students with an average of 85.6 per cent.

His marks were top in mid-term examinations at Christmas.

Liberals Dared To Fight Election On Pipeline Deal

OTTAWA (CP)—The government was challenged to a general election Tuesday as it bared to the Commons its plan to grant a huge treasury loan to a private company to finance an immediate start on the long-stalled cross-Canada natural gas pipeline.

The proposal, outlined by Trade Minister Howe to a packed and noisy Commons, received a rough reception from jeering Progressive Conservative and CCF members.

Involved in the complex proposal is provision of a federal loan covering 90 per cent of the estimated $80,000,000 cost of building this year the Alberta-Winnipeg portion of the 2,200-mile line to deliver Alberta gas to Ontario and Quebec.

Opposition Leader Drew said the scheme is "truly fantastic." It was subsidy on a "grand scale" and an attempt by Liberal members to bail Mr. Howe out of confusion into which he had plunged his government.

"The present minister of trade and commerce can be too expensive a luxury for Canada under circumstances of that kind," Mr. Drew said.

CCF leader Coldwell declared:

"I say to the government . . . let them go before the people of Canada at this time to see what will happen to them. I am convinced that there was never a more unpopular proposition put before the people of Canada than this one is."

Fire Kills Mother, Children

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — A young mother and her three children died Tuesday night in a fierce fire that destroyed a farm home near here.

Mrs. Laurena Rumig, 23, and her children, Arnold, 5, Bonnie, 4, and Ronald 2, were trapped in the upstairs of the house, about seven miles west of this western Ontario city.

The father, Allen Rumig, was working at nearby Erbville. He was unaware of the tragedy until he was told by a brother-in-law, waiting at an Erbville corner to direct firemen to the scene.

As he dashed to the house, Mr. Rumig could near the screams of his wife and children. He couldn't get into the burning building

Strikes Imminent

Transport Tie-Up Faces Canada

Canada's water and land shipping industries faced the threat of nation-wide strikes Tuesday following the breakdown of negotiations on the rail front, and the ordering of a 1,500-men walkout on 60 Lake vessels Thursday.

The crisis became worse as Hal Banks, Canadian director of the Seafarers' International Union rejected plea by federal Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg to postpone the strike. Banks said late Tuesday afternoon that it was "mechanically impossible" to do so.

Gregg had sent a wire to Banks asking the postponement in order to give the government time to set up mediation talks.

On the rail front, possible strike action involved approximately 150,000 non-operating railway employees. A meeting called by Gregg broke up early Tuesday morning after 40 minutes.

Frank H. Hall, head of the non-operating union delegation at the talks, said merely "there was no meeting. Period." The delegation would only resume negotiations on the basis of a conciliation board report which called for a progressive wage increase.

Also adding to the nation's labor troubles was the second strike in 11 days to hit the Dominion Textile Co.

At the company's plant at Magog, Que., 2,010 men and women walked off their jobs. The firm's Drummondville, Que., plant has been closed since April 27.

A company spokesman said the strike followed friction over a question of time and motion measurement.

Councillors Blame Saanich Auditors

Saanich council voted last night to turn down its auditors' request for a fee increase and indicated future services may be cut when an administrator is hired.

Councillors blamed the firm of Ismay, Bolston and Dunn for not informing the previous council of the impending sewerage program deficit at the time.

"If the books are audited at least once a month, surely the firm could have foreseen the deficit and advised council on action to take," Coun. Eugene Diespecker said.

"After the sewers fiasco," he added, "I think we can say we are not satisfied we are getting the utmost in service from our auditors."

The firm, in a letter to council, requested an increase in fee from $3,300 to $4,000 a year in view of the "amount of work and responsibility" involved.

Reeve Arthur Ash stated that an administrator, when he is hired, will probably eliminate the need to a substantial degree for outside auditing.

Angry Throng Pelts Officials

ALGIERS (AP)—Ten thousand French students and war veterans—angry and impatient with the government's failure to put down the Algerian rebellion—hurled tomatoes, onions and stones Tuesday at French officials gathered to commemorate the Allied victory in Europe in the Second World War.

None of the officials was hit, but police in the heavy cordon protecting them were plastered with tomatoes.

Robert Lacoste, the French resident-general; Michael Campeix, secretary of state for Algeria; and Marcel Jacques Chevallier, mayor of Algiers were placing a wreath at the monument honoring war dead.

The irate demonstrators yelled "vive l'armee" (long live the army) and "l'armee au pouvoir" (put the army in power).

As police cleared a way permitting the officials to retire from the monument the husky Lacoste—obviously boiling mad—yelled to the demonstrators, "Test your patriotic courage in the Aures or the Nementchas." These are mountains where armed rebels roam in strength.

Later the demonstrators, apparently led by University of Algiers students who are on strike, clashed again with the police. Chairs and bottles from sidewalk cafes sailed through the air. At least one shot was fired.

Police charged, swinging white nightsticks energetically. Finally, they cleared the area by hurling grenade after grenade of tear gas.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five-weeks-old Janice Wilson was returned by court order Tuesday to her parents. The court had turned the child over to the Children's Aid Society last week after her parents refused to allow her a blood transfusion.

Talent-Scout Plan Urged for Schools

LADYSMITH, B.C. (CP) — Only half the really bright students go on to university, Dr. S. R. Laycock said Tuesday.

Scholarships at the university level are too late to retrieve all the potential students that could go on to higher learning, he said in an address to the Ladysmith and Chemainus District Teachers' Association.

Teachers in primary grades could serve as talent scouts to discover the gifted child who could then be guided through channels of learning suited to his capacity.

Dr. Laycock, former dean of education at the University of Saskatchewan, forecast a great upsurge of interest in gifted children because of an "enormous competition for brains" in the world today.

Losing Your Figure? Just Eat More Fat!

LONDON (Reuters)—British women were given this advice Tuesday on how to keep their figures and complexions: Eat more fat.

It came from A. S. Baxter, president of the Association of Multiple Retail Meat Traders, who spoke at the association's annual luncheon here.

"Fat should be regarded as nature's beauty specialist," he declared.

"It is very good for the skin. It is excellent for the complexion.

"I assure the ladies that they will have no trouble with their complexions if they take reasonable quantities of fat."

'Frogman' Enthralls Russians, Diplomat Laughs Off Rumors

LONDON (AP) — A Soviet diplomat said Tuesday the Russians are enthralled by the mystery growing up around the disappearance of Britain's most famous "frogman" — Lt.-Cmdr. Lionel Buster Crabb.

The Russian, asking that his name not be used, laughed off speculation in sections of the British press that Crabb had been kidnapped after he was spotted near the Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze. The Soviet diplomat said Crabb was spotted near the cruiser that carried Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev to Britain April 18.

Ship lookouts, he said, saw the diver but "they did not take his presence seriously."

NOT POLITICAL ISSUE

The government's silence in spite of newspaper demands for an explanation has tended to lend a "cloak and dagger" tinge to the affair that has become a political issue in Britain.

The Russian informant said in an interview Tuesday:

"The Soviet embassy knows no more about Commander Crabb's activities than what the British press has reported. He was not attacked. He was not carried away aboard the Ordzhonikidze. We are as interested as you are to know what he was doing and what happened to him."

The official explained Bulganin and Khrushchev doubtless would have complained to Prime Minister Eden if any prowler had been found tampering beneath their cruiser.

Governor's Head Worth $85,000

HERAKLION, Crete (Reuters)—A Greek merchant has offered an $85,000 reward for the head of Sir John Harding, British governor of Cyprus.

Charalambos Markakis said he was "outbidding" a $28,000 reward Harding offered recently for the capture of a Greek Cypriot, George Rivas, undercover leader of the rebellion against the British in Cyprus.

THE white mountains are printed on a blue sky. Robins pull worms from the new grass. The air smells of green things. The sun warms the blood.

People emerge from shops and houses to be carried away in a sweet current of life.

A power which is older than the mountains and as new as a bud drives through every creature. It sends old gardeners planting seeds and young birds digging them up.

The spring magic induces a reckless young man to buy a $3 watch for $25 from a carnival smoothie, and present it to a girl.

It persuades tough little boys to hurry home to their mothers with bundles of daisies and broom flowers.

It rolls down convertible tops; brings out summer dresses, to the delight of every man under 95; sets in motion dusty golf clubs, lawn sprinklers and polishing cloths.

The spring makes grumpy folk say "Hello" to acquaintances they have been ignoring all winter.

It persuades a newspaperman to walk on the tar roof and break off a cream-colored torch of chestnut bloom with its overtones of gold and pink, and take it home to his wife.

"I never noticed these before," he says, with inarticulate wonder.

And that sets the tone of the season. Millions of people see the world as though for the first time.

The green torrent of sun and flowers and birdsong carries them all from the stale backwaters of gloom and self-pity toward the ocean of summer.

Doctors Face Suit For Fatal Surgery

BOSTON (UP) — A young widow has sued two doctors for $250,000, claiming her husband died because they removed his right kidney without determining first that he had no left kidney.

Mrs. Nancy Keefe of Billerica filed her suit last February. It was disclosed Tuesday. She charged the doctors with negligence in the death of her husband, James, last July 3.

Keefe, 21, a veteran of Korean and navy service, was operated on for what was diagnosed as an inflamed appendix, May 7, 1955, according to the widow's lawyer, James A. Brink. Brink said the doctor found the appendix was all right.

But, he said, the surgeon during the operation noticed a tumor on Keefe's right kidney and removed the whole organ. Not until three days later when Keefe was X-rayed, Brink said, was it discovered that he had no left kidney.

Before then Keefe was unaware himself that he had been born without the organ and so was his family, Brink said.

Keefe was brought to a Boston hospital and kept alive with an artificial kidney until June 22, when surgeons attempted a kidney transplant. The transplant failed, and Keefe died 11 days later.

Brink said a pathologist reported that the tumor in the removed kidney was a harmless type.

The suit accused the doctors of malpractice. It is awaiting trial.

The couple had been married only four months before his death.

Fires Still Consume Timber As Hazard Stays Critical

Blazing forest fires continued to destroy valuable B.C. timberland yesterday and critical hazard conditions remained on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland. Danger still remains at Youbou, in the Cowichan area.

Some 31 new fires have broken out since Monday in the Vancouver forest district.

Total of 123 fires have been reported in the district since the official fire season went into effect seven days ago.

Elsewhere in the province low hazard conditions are reported.

It is the worst fire season start experienced in the lower coastal area since 1951 when 170 fires were reported in the first seven days.

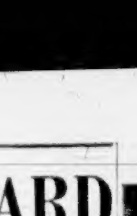
Forestry department officials extinguished 27 blazes overnight Monday but 37 fires were still burning yesterday. Most cover areas up to 10 acres.

Sixteen new fires were said to have occurred along the tracks of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway at Squamish.

Some 70 men are still patrolling the smouldering timbers that fell in the 200-acre Youbou blaze last week.

"It could be serious there if the wrong wind sprang up," said a spokesman.

Garden Notes



Aphis Attacks China Aster

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

China asters are lovely subjects, and worthy of a place in every garden if only for their excellence as a cut flower, but they present something of a challenge to the gardener because of the pests which attack them.

One of the worst is the aster aphis. Its form of attack is so insidious that often it has been sucking the sap from the leaves for quite a time before you ever realize what is wrong.

HOME OF PARASITE

The under side of the young leaves is the home of this parasite, and so much leaf sap is withdrawn that the upper surface of the leaves become spoon-shaped, with the outer margins turned upward. As each young leaf unfolds, it in turn falls a victim.

Asters should always be given a careful examination every few days, and at the first indication of attack, spray with Malathion, making sure the undersides of the young leaves are well drenched.

ANOTHER PEST

Another pest of the aster, and one even harder to detect, is the root aphis, which causes a general wilting of the plant very much as if it were suffering from drought.

Prevention is better than cure in this case, and the trick to foil this undercover agent is to add a little soil insecticide to the fertilizer solution used for watering in the plants when they are set out in the open garden. A teaspoonful of Aldrin or Dieldrin added to each gallon of fertilizer solution will provide lasting protection against this pest.

* * *

When all the bedding-out annuals have been moved from their seed flats to their flowering site outdoors, it is quite the usual thing to find that the bottom boards of some of the flats have rotted through.

Rather than chuck such casualties on the garden bonfire, remove the entire decayed bottom and substitute a sheet of cheese cloth, held in place with thumb tacks.

MANY USES

You'll find all kinds of uses for this shallow frame, and placed over a bit of seed bed in which seeds of primulas and other perennial subjects have been sown, this slight covering speeds up germination, protects the young and tender seedlings from sun and wind, and wards off attacks of slugs and woodlice.

The cheesecloth covering admits air freely and doesn't "draw" the young plants as would glass or plastic.

"Oh, give me a home
That is built upon loam,
Which is moist on a midsummer day;
Where no puddles will lie,
Where no wells will run dry,
As they do upon gravel and clay!"

Russia Aware Hasty Action Peril in East

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles said Tuesday night Russia appears increasingly aware of the dangers of "reckless action" in the Middle East, and there are "grounds for hope" that a settlement may be reached.

Dulles' speech was prepared for a B'Nai B'Rith international convention to Washington.

The speech had been billed in advance by the state department as a report on Dulles' trip last week to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign ministers meeting at Paris.

Dulles said the meeting was prolonged "into the early hours of Sunday morning" by discussion which led to a decision to try to make NATO into more than a military pact.

"It was recognized by all as being a decision which would be of historic importance since it could contribute mightily toward erasing what has been the great weakness of the West, namely its disunity," Dulles said.

FORM STUDY GROUP

He said the decision was to set up a study group of "Three Wise Men" — the foreign ministers of Canada, Italy and Norway. They are to report back in the fall on various proposals, including one by Dulles to keep a continuous council of NATO meeting on political problems.

Dulles said the NATO Allies expressed "grave concern that the Soviet Union had sought to further its ends by playing fast and loose with 'peace'" in the Middle East.

Deductions Curse

OTTAWA (BUP) — Revenue Minister J. J. McCann told parliament Tuesday night special deductions from income tax were the curse of his department.

If special deductions for specific purposes, like union dues or attending conventions were abolished, the general tax rate could be lowered, he said.

McCann, a medical doctor, spoke in the Commons when Finance Minister Walter Harris asked the House to approve a plan to allow deductions from income for expenses incurred in attending one or two conventions a year in Canada by any person if the convention attendance is necessary for his business.

CCF members said the deduction either should be disallowed or widened to include such other expenses as special tools and clothing for workers in certain industries.

Some opposition members argued the deductions should not be limited to those incurred in attending conventions in Canada, but should include conventions abroad.

Wandering Wanderley Wins Goal

NEW YORK (AP) — Wanderley Carmargo's barefoot wanderings seemed near an end Tuesday. Brazil's air-age Cinderella boy has found a real life fairy godmother to make his dreams of America come true.

Wanderley is the 21-year-old Brazilian who twice risked his life to slow away on airliners coming into this country. Before he was thrown into jail for six months after the last escapade, he pleaded:

"I want to come to the United States and get a job. I want to live here. I want to be a U.S. citizen. I want to join the U. S. Army."

At that time his ambitions seemed hopeless. But Tuesday, a Reseda, Calif., mother of three children translated them into reality.

She is Mrs. William E. Foster, wife of a Lockheed Aircraft Corporation engineer. She heard of Carmargo's plight on a visit to her home town Sao Paulo in Brazil. Carmargo also comes from Sao Paulo.

Mrs. Foster got in touch with Gen. Joseph Swing, commissioner of immigration, and arranged to sponsor Carmargo. She promised a home, a job and plentiful opportunity for the Brazilian lad.

Carmargo was sent to prison for six months last April 14 after he entered the country illegally for a second time. Tuesday, federal judge Leo Rayfield reduced the sentence to time served.

Today Carmargo goes free. The rest is a matter of technical routine. He and Mrs. Foster will go to the Mexican border. There Carmargo will re-enter legally with an immigrant's visa.

Then Mrs. Foster is taking him to Reseda and a job in a restaurant run by her parents.

He won the Governor-General's medal for first place in the province in senior matriculation examinations when he graduated from Victoria high school last year.

Now majoring in science, he plans a second year at Victoria College.

Marlene R. Hunt, 19-year-old student of the English classics, ranked second in first-year results with an average of 88.9 per cent.

A polished pianist, she will write her final examination this summer for an LCTM.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hunt, 300 Ker, she won a citizenship cup and a PTA scholarship on graduation from Mount View high school. Miss Hunt also plans a second year at the college.

EARNED A REST

Mrs. Williams was delighted with her son's success.

"He's down on the beach," she said. "I think he's earned some relaxation. But I'll get word to him as soon as I can."

"He worked hard," she said. "We are delighted and proud."

But academic studies didn't take up all his time at college. He was director of publications for the students' council and editor of the college paper.

Miss Stott, now thinking of teaching biochemistry at university, may enter research work in the same field.

Working for the summer as a laboratory assistant in the provincial mines department laboratory, she plans to enroll in an honors course in zoology at UBC in the fall.

ACTIVE STUDENT

She has been president of the college science club, editor of the college annual and was a member of the grass hockey and swimming teams.

Miss Hunt admitted she was surprised "and thrilled," at her success in first-year studies.

Working as mail clerk at the Empress hotel during her holidays, she said she planned to complete her university studies. But she isn't quite sure yet just what she wants to do with her life.

Mr. Smith is working toward a doctorate in physics.

Victoria's Gag-Men

MEMBERS of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce good-will touring party seem to be having great fun promenading on the streets of prairie cities and posturing before TV cameras in top-hats, cutaway coats and monocles. They appear to be drawing crowds, too; though that isn't surprising. Clowns always will.

If the purpose of this puerile masquerade is to draw attention to Victoria, the cavalcade must be rated as a success; though whether or not it is the kind of attention that will do the provincial capital any good is open to question. These middle-aged and elderly leaders of civic affairs, who include the mayor and a cabinet minister, must be trying to protray something—but what? If it is to perpetuate the threadbare myth of Victoria's "traditionally-British atmosphere" their comic get-up puts them several decades behind the times. The silly-ass type of Englishman, mostly music-hall and fictional, went out of fashion even before P. G. Wodehouse stopped writing about him. To try to bring him to life again—and in a Canadian city where he never did belong—is not exactly courteous to the hard-working British people of today, either.

So about all these juvenile antics are succeeding in doing is to hold up Englishmen to ridicule and to identify Victoria—as Canadian a city as any other in the country—with a long vanished era. This, one is expected to believe, has great publicity value—though to any sensible person's way of thinking a pseudo-Englishman in a monocle and top-hat is about as representative of Victoria as an Australian aborigine with spear and boomerang would be.

The whole nonsensical performance not only exposes Victoria to derision but is in very poor taste as well. Of course people on the prairies will stop to stare and laugh—as they would at any sidewalk show. Some of the gullible ones might even be persuaded to come west to see this little bit of Olde England for themselves; but what are they going to think of the pitch-men when they get here and find a modern, all-Canadian city with little more resemblance to England than to a South Sea atoll? As for arousing interest in Victoria as a likely place in which to locate a business or industry, who is going to invest money in a city that doesn't seem to have wakened up to the fact that this is the second half of the 20th century?

Coming on top of the meaningless hatchet-burying ceremony of recent memory, this sorry exhibition is painfully embarrassing. If the Chamber of Commerce members must cavort as gag-men, it's a pity someone among them can't think up something a little more original and a lot less assinine.

Slackness at Oakalla?

THE amazing affair at Oakalla jail, where only for the quick thinking and plucky action of a Vancouver newspaperman the murder of a guard could have followed a convict revolt, leaves some questions remaining to be answered. How did it happen that a trio of long-term prisoners should be able to get into possession of a pair of scissors, a razor and enough wire to bind the wrists of a guard, while supposedly under the surveillance of prison wardens? Once a hostage was captured all of the rifles and revolvers in the jail were not of much use. Guards do not surrender to unarmed convicts, but cutting weapons are another matter. Who left the barber shop unsearched?

Desperate men will take outside chances. The trio of prisoners concerned in a guard's abduction were apparently in that category. How could it happen, however, that the visit of one or other of them to the prison barber shop would go unchecked — to the extent that such weapons could be picked up and secreted? There is slackness somewhere when any body of detained individuals are given that degree of opportunity to make mischief. In this instance there was no jail-break involved. The revolting prisoners applied duress to a guard in order to gain an indirect effect, something outside of Oakalla itself. It is reported that one threatened the life of the guard for five hours, and used the threat to gain his way.

There is something wrong with a set-up under which such things can happen. It seems obvious that the three men in question were not sufficiently watched or guarded. If that condition can apply in one place it can happen in others. It strains belief that three men with purloined and improvised weapons could literally take charge of the situation as these men did if proper safeguards and an adequate watch were being maintained at the jail. What is wrong at Oakalla when convicts can take command?

This is not the first time that the public has heard of strange things at the provincial jail. There has been talk in the past of prisoners' fears, and threats from a hard core of offenders if they do not get their way. Some of them obviously are getting far too much of their own way. A searching inquiry should follow.

A Forgotten Date

YESTERDAY was only another working day here and across the country yet the date was an historic one. It was the anniversary of V-E Day, marked in Victoria 11 years ago by an enthusiastic parade and a thanksgiving service of praise. Memory may seem to die quickly but various factors intervene. One could be the multiplicity of "days" which are now celebrated; another could be the fact that unlike the Armistice Day of the first war V-E Day did not end the second war. As far as Canada was concerned the Japanese campaign simply petered out a short three months later, but on May 8, 1945, that result was unknown and the impact of the European cease-fire was thereby lessened.

By contrast November 11, 1918, heralded the end of a great blood-letting that had gone on steadily for more than four years. The relief when it came was tremendous and the day became hallowed in most minds. Since for long it was hoped also that this had been the war to end wars the thanksgiving associated with that date grew stronger with the years. It became a focal point in most communities for an annual remembrance, to the extent that fixed it as a memorial day which continues to be recognized. It would not have been feasible to have another memorial day of like nature.

Because of these things May 8 has been sidelined, officially at least. No doubt many a veteran of the last war cast his mind back yesterday to the end of his wartime ordeal, and privately there would thus be some recognition of the anniversary. Some groups celebrate as the epochal day of the second war the Normandy landing of June 6, an auspicious date embracing the liberation of Europe from Nazi domination. Nevertheless it is somewhat strange that no public note should be taken at all of the V-E Day anniversary, a date that is an important one to Canada. One might have thought it would be marked at least by special military parades, even if limited to confines of the barrack areas.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I HOPE you value your daily paper like Jim Bailey does. Remember him? He is the young fellow who last Saturday upset the cognoscenti by beating the renowned John Landy to the mile tape.

He so astounded himself too that he uttered a profound truth, to wit: "I won't believe it until I see it in the papers tomorrow."

Wise lad.

Now do not be mislead: I am not puffing out a chest. Everything that's in a newspaper isn't gospel—although if it isn't it's not the paper's fault. People forget a newspaper's job is to report things—things said or done.

The paper doesn't make them up, you know. Often it gets credit or discredit for saying something when really it hasn't of itself said anything at all.

It has simply passed that something along. Next time you read an item, remember that.

* * *

But I'm bent only on stressing the power of the printed or written word. It has oral transmission beaten to a frazzle.

Because it is permanent. Or can be.

George Meredith said that things printed are like babies baptized; they have a soul from that moment and go on forever.

There you have the difference.

Last Saturday evening when I came back to work the lady in the corner drug store, where I had dropped in for a packet of matches and something to go with them, was bemoaning the catastrophe that had struck Nanaimo. What happend, I asked.

Eight inches of rain had fallen that afternoon, she told me; a regular flood. A customer had heard it on the radio.

Now of course only .8 of an inch had fallen and the customer's ear had betrayed him. So often the ear does, as any front-line army veteran can tell you. And messages or news repeated by word of mouth can end up in queer shape.

This is not to denigrate the radio or its newest cousin TV. Not a bit. Both these mediums serve a useful and entertaining purpose; even indeed if only to whet the appetite of a newspaper reader. Hearing of something special he'll be avid for the paper so he can savor all the details.

* * *

And it's only in the paper, via the printed word, that he can read them over and over or clip them out for future reference, as Jim Bailey could do the next morning.

He, for instance, could listen to the later broadcast of his own mile race, perhaps even see it on TV, but he couldn't put either of these in his scrapbook.

Where, without a doubt, the newsprint story of his defeat of Landy is by now well ensconced.

It is said that man first hauled himself up by his bootstraps when he invented the wheel, but that's not so. His upward march began when he learned to write and, the inevitable extension of this, to put things in print.

Wipe out the written record of all things tomorrow and in no time at all we'd be back in the dark ages; after a period of chaos without equal in all history.

Talking about history B.C.'s centennial record would be half-empty without the hundred-year volumes of the Colonist.

You see, Landy's young compatriot had the right idea. Possibly I'm prejudiced but I hope you have it too.

International Commentary

After the Russian Visit

By W. N. EWER, from London

THE general feeling when Messrs. Bulganin and Khrushchev sailed for home was that although their visit had resulted in no definite and concrete agreements, it had been "well worth while." This phrase was the headline of The Times editorial on the morning of their departure. It was in many other newspaper comments. Mr. Khrushchew echoed it at the close of the parting Soviet press conference.

It may sound paradoxical to regard as a success a visit which produced no agreements. But I would say that it was a success precisely because there was no expectation of agreements and no effort to secure them. I have seen too many conferences in which desire to reach some agreement—or something which could be presented as an agreement—has been the cause of quarrel and confusion later. The statesmen and diplomats have, often at the last minute, "found a formula" which both sides have been able to accept, because each placed a different meaning on it. The peoples have been led to believe that issues have been settled when in fact nothing has been decided. And the inevitable disillusion has deepened distrusts.

This time both sides from the beginning accepted the fact that there was no prospect of reaching definite agreement or accord on any issue of consequence. And there was tacit agreement to avoid pretence. Even the customary, and often hypocritical, phrase about a "cordial and friendly atmosphere" found no place in the final "statement." Instead it spoke of "a spirit of candour and realism." That, one gathers, is a fair description of the exchanges. Mr. Khrushchev had already said, in his speech at Birmingham, that there had been a time when they had spoken "fairly sharply and bluntly."

That being so, what have the talks achieved? In the first place it must, I think, rank as an achievement that there could be such candour, such blunt talk without quarrel and breakdown. One guesses that at moments the atmosphere must have become somewhat electric. But no storm burst.

In the second place, there can be no doubt that the two sides have, in the quite literal sense of the word, reached a better understanding of each other's point of view; while outside the meetings themselves the Soviet leaders must have learned much that they could not have realized before about Britain and the British people. But what of the topics that were discussed? If there are no agreements, is it possible to speak of progress towards agreement? I think that it is; though the progress is slight. There has been what one may call an edging forward in a limited field but no more. And how far that takes us only future developments can show.

The field is limited. On all the tangle of Europe the joint statement frankly records that no understanding was reached. On "the other unsettled international problems" it merely records that both parties will "strive to promote a solution in the interests of consolidating general peace."

On disarmament there is no advance. Except that a new Russian suggestion, made since the talks ended, will be studied in the UN subcommittee. Its precise meaning is still somewhat obscure.

What remains? Palestine, trade and "cultural exchanges." It is here, if anywhere, that one can detect signs of a possibility of progress.

With regard to Palestine, the Russians have in effect reaffirmed the declaration issued by the Moscow foreign office on the eve of the London talks. Just what it means is still not entirely clear. But it does seem to imply that the Soviet Union is now prepared to co-operate in a spirit of impartiality in efforts by the United Nations both to keep the immediate peace and to "secure a peaceful settlement . . . of the dispute between the Arab states and Israel." That may prove to be the most important outcome of the whole conference.

With regard to the question of developing Anglo-Soviet trade, it is clear that the Russians laid all stress on their demand for the abolition of the embargoes on the export of "strategic materials" to the Soviet Union. It is clear that the British pointed out that there are other and far more serious obstacles to East-West trade, which derive from Soviet and satellite economic policies. Experts from the two sides are to study the whole matter. That may not be much. But it could lead to something.

With regard to "cultural exchanges" and to "contacts" there is a separate joint declaration. It lays down admirable principles for the exchange of "culture" (in the widest sense, including science, technology and sport) and for an increase in mutual visits (both of individuals and of groups. And it pledges both governments to "afford all possible assistance" to put these into effect. What that will mean in practice remains, like so much else, to be seen.

The balance sheet of actual achievement is not an impressive one. Such gains as it registers are largely "hypothetical and contingent" — to use a once-famous phrase. One has to await developments to be sure of their value. They may prove substantial. They may prove illusory. One cannot forget the disappointment of the hopes aroused last July in Geneva.

I am inclined to agree with the assessment of The Times. "The chief result of it all is simply that each side can size up the other's men and their policies far better than before."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

ONE of the small, exciting things going on around us of which we have little or no awareness is the routine research being done by people like foresters. In a recent news letter from a forestry district in Ontario, there is given the detail with regard to a certain hemlock tree.

Foresters can read a tree stump as if it were pages of history. By the number and size of the rings of growth in the log, they can count every year of a tree's life. But more than that, they can, from the size of those rings, tell the years of famine and of feast in that tree's life.

The hemlock tree they took for their example was born from the seed in the year 1746. This tree was 15 inches in diameter at the butt in 1956. When it was born, George II was on the throne and Bonny Prince Charlie had been defeated at Culloden only one year before. The French Revolution had not occurred, neither had the American. This hemlock, little more than a foot through, was 210 years old.

But here is what the foresters read.

In the hundred years from 1746 to 1846 the tree grew to a size only two and a half inches at the butt. Just a slender tent pole of a hemlock; but a century old. The foresters figure that in those hundred years it was overshadowed by greater trees that starved it and retarded its growth.

Between 1846 and 1922 the hemlock suddenly put on a remarkable spurt, and in the 76 years grew from that tent pole into a handsome hemlock with a diameter of 7½ inches.

From this the foresters deduced that, either by blowdown in a storm, or from some other cause, the trees that overshadowed our hero had been removed, and it had a chance to flourish. By 1922, it was sufficiently the master of its immediate area that it put on another spurt, and in the 34 years to its death it laid on the rings so fast that it reached 15 inches diameter at the stump.

The lesson for us greenhorns is that a small tree is not necessarily a young tree. Maybe it is older than your grandmother.

With the Classics

He that is down, needs fear no fall,
He that is low, no pride;
He that is humble, ever shall
Have God to be his guide.

I am content with what I have,
Little be it, or much;
And, Lord, contentment still I crave,
Because Thou savest such.

Fullness to such a burden is
That go on pilgrimage:
Here little, and thereafter bliss
Is best from age to age.

Interpreting the News

Contradictory, But It Works

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

THE strange situation in which the United States approves shipments of arms to Israel by her Allies but refuses to do so herself has its roots in the cold war with Russia.

American authorities are convinced that one of the chief Russian motives in insinuating herself into the Middle East last year was to force the United States to choose sides. By selling arms to Egypt, the Reds ensured that if the United States did choose sides, she would stand with Israel.

* * *

Washington refused to accept the gambit. Outside of a few small prior commitments, she embargoed the shipment of arms either to Israel or to the Arab states.

She excepted Iraq, which is a member of the Baghdad pact, and which has held aloof from the Palestine dispute.

This was done while waiting for evidence as to whether Communist arms shipments actually were upsetting the balance of power. So far, the swing has not been decisive.

Meantime Russia, seeing that her actions had produced a serious war threat, has changed her tune. She has promised to go along with United Nations mediation efforts, and offers to join an international arms embargo. That cut the rug right out from under Egypt's aggressiveness, leaving Premier Nasser in grave doubt about how far Moscow was ready to go.

* * *

The American tactics left Russia to stew in the juices of her own creation, and the Reds had to back down. To that extent the equivocation policy has proved successful.

There is a question whether it will remain so under its extension to approve allied arms sales to Israel while continuing to refuse direct American shipments.

As things now stand, the United States is permitting her Allies, particularly France, to divert arms from NATO. After that, if France sends them to Israel, it is theoretically an action which does not involve the United States.

Civil Service Salaries

(From The Edmonton Journal)

THE huge sums which the federal government has undertaken to pay out for salary increases to the civil service have probably led many Canadians to believe that individual civil servants are now highly and perhaps excessively paid. Some particulars recently released, as to the pay of various positions, paint a different picture.

Thus, we learn that a lighthouse keeper—a hard, lonely and responsible job—will now receive $1,000 a year; a senior transcriber (shorthand reporter) $2,790, and a bridgeman $3,600. In the professional and executive ranks, a meteorological officer will be paid $4,950, an auditor in the excise department $5,310, a director of old-age assistance $6,900, and a superintendent architect in the public works department $9,000.

These are hardly princely salaries. In fact, they are substantially below what is paid in private industry for similar positions. It should be remembered, too, that they are maximum salaries, reached in many cases only after long years of service.

The reason why the civil service is such a burden on the nation's economy is not that its individual members are overpaid. It is that the service as a whole is so huge, and that its numbers are constantly increasing. If the government were to weed out the surplus employees and then pay the "survivors" higher salaries and insist that they earn them, both the taxpayers and the public service would benefit.

Lethal Playthings

Summer is almost upon us and it might be appropriate to publish a few remarks on the subject of air-guns, air-rifles, air-pistols, BB-guns, etc.

I have two small children running around and they still have two eyes, two arms and legs apiece and I want it to stay that way.

In my opinion manufacturers should be prevented from making such lethal playthings; shop-keepers should be prevented from selling them; parents should have brains enough to refrain from buying them, and parents of children without them should know enough to prevent their [illegible] the guns of others.

Generous Victorians

May I, through the columns of your paper, have the privilege of extending our thanks to the many generous Victoria people who opened their homes — and I must add, their hearts — to the members of our band who were billeted with them during the BCHS Band Conference. Our members were high in their praise for the way in which they were accorded such a cordial reception.

Our thanks go also to Mr. Howard Denike and his excellent committees for their vast preparations. The magnitude of the undertaking was such that only the greatest co-operation made its success possible. To the clinicians who helped the students, a special "Thank you!" We, who travelled 1,500 miles were gratified to know we had received such worthwhile help, information and inspiration.

A Nice Gesture

Along the Island Highway between Victoria and Kelsey Bay there is now only one spot where the road goes through virgin timber, an area of 160 acres, belonging chiefly to the Salmon River Logging Company. It is included in their forest management licence, which they turned over at a very handsome profit to the Powell River Logging Company not long after they had obtained it.

If it were saved from the power saw it would make a beautiful little park of between 200 and 300 acres, a gift by the company to the public. The company has so far done next to nothing for the community in which they carry on their operations at Sayward and Kelsey Bay in return for the granting of the forest management licence, and all they would have to do would be to buy out one Comox man, who now owns six acres in the block, and turn it over to the forestry branch of the provincial government.

There are some wonderful giant Douglas firs in the block and a delightful little stream and it would make an acceptable green oasis among the stumps.

Such a gesture, not on the same scale as the gift by Mr. H. R. MacMillan of Cathedral Grove, but with a similar intent, would show that one of the chief beneficiaries of the forest management licence system was mindful of the benefits received when the licence was granted. It would cost the company not more than $30,000, but every time anyone drove through the little glen they would be reminded of the gift.

Grace Not Justice

Am I to be classed as a moron in explaining that in capital punishment we compound a felony? Can you tell the difference between the law of justice and the "Grace of God"? —that whereas aforetime the law of justice required "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth," wherein we were required to pay to the uttermost the penalty for our own misdeeds, and that for nearly 2,000 years now, "the grace of God has been freely offered, that as we forgive—so are we forgiven our trespasses."

Christians accept grace in place of justice, and are required to forgive trespasses against them. No mental power can overcome the evil in this world, "God is the Judge," and none of us so pure that we can afford to judge, or condemn.

City Editor's Story

Convicts on Brink of Murder To Get 'Frame-Up' Tale Told

By BRUCE LARSEN
Vancouver Province City Editor

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bob Tremblay, Marcel Frenette and Charlie Talbot went to the brink of murder Monday to gain assurance that "their story" will be told.

That story is basically a claim of monstrous frame-up.

I traded them this story for the life of a good Oakalla officer.

As I promised Tremblay, I am undertaking to tell their story as accurately as I can. I insisted on my reservation to stay within the bounds of reason and the law.

Here is the story as it came from the three prisoners who held guard Ernie Loveless hostage. Some detail — at Tremblay's request—comes from another Oakalla inmate who was convicted with them of the attempted murder of Thomas Kinna.

Some of their story, because we must stay within our privilege in law as a newspaper, cannot be told here. My undertaking there was that I would pass that part on to the attorney-general's office.

"We never had a fair trial," insisted Tremblay at the start of the half - hour interview that ended with Loveless' release.

"The fact is that we had a newspaper trial.

"We want a chance to get in the box—at the trial the lawyers advised us to stay out.

"We want the attorney-general to study what we have that didn't get into the courts—and decide if he should intervene—whether there is proper grounds to intervene.

"When that material is being considered by Mr. Maclean (deputy attorney-general Alan Maclean) we want Mr. Hill (Larry Hill, Tremblay's trial lawyer) present and we want Bruce Larsen there for newspapers. We want our stuff tested by points of law—nothing else.

"If they want us to testify—take us there.

"I'd rather not be present when Gordon (Robert Gordon, a Nelson, B.C., logger, testified against the prisoners at their trial) was there so he'll talk freely. I want it all done in B.C."

Tremblay several times repeated one comment.

"If we had wanted to escape from here we could have done it a dozen times. All I'm asking is that it go by law."

Tremblay said that he did not think that much weight should be given to the testimony of the analyst "about bloodstains on the back of my trousers and a grass stain on my knee the size of a baseball. He claims he burned the patches because they were useless. If that is evidence against us—where is it now?"

That in essence, is what Tremblay wanted said.

He wanted that published along with what I'd taken down earlier from Jimmy Malgren and from Charlie Talbot.

Tremblay had intended to wait until our newspaper was on the street with the story before he released Loveless. Persuasion that their case would be stronger if Loveless left then with me finally won out and the guard was freed.

Warden Helpless

Snipers Ready To Cut Down Trio

VANCOUVER (CP) — "I'll cut his throat and roll his head out to you."

Warden Hugh Christie Tuesday told reporters how he stood helpless for more than five hours on Monday as three Oakalla prison farm prisoners threatened to kill guard Ernest Loveless.

"It was a tough situation," he said.

"I was trying to spar for time."

The warden, who formerly held a high-prison position in Saskatchewan, said the trouble began at 2.30 p.m. Monday when Loveless, 38, was seized by Bob Tremblay and Marcel Frenette, both of Montreal, and Charlie Talbot of Vancouver.

LONG TERMS

All are under sentence of 20 years for attempted murder in the Dec. 19, 1955, bludgeoning of drug addict Thomas Kinna.

Warden Christie said the whole thing started when Tremblay, Frenette and Talbot spoke together in the exercise yard. They walked into the west wing and made a pretence of heading for the barber shop.

In the wing, they seized Loveless and another guard, identified only as Allison. The second guard was pushed outside and the door slammed.

Holding a razor at Loveless' throat and the scissors at his back, the three called Christie.

The first words he heard, the warden said, were Tremblay's, who called:

"I've got to live — what the hell. I'll cut his throat and roll his head out to you."

MARKSMEN POSTED

Meanwhile, Christie obtained permission from the attorney-general's department in Victoria to post two expert guard marksmen in a position to cut down the three prisoners with rifle fire.

Regular food trays were passed to the prisoners and officials pondered the advisability of doping it.

"We thought a lot about the food. But we finally decided not to do anything about it," the warden said.

"The trio had Loveless down on a mattress and the thought was we might have been able to pick them off by rifle fire.

PLAN NOT USED

"The two guards took their guns down to the range and tested them. But this plan was not used."

Bouncer Gets No Sympathy

MONTREAL (CP) — Judge Pascal Lachapelle suggests bouncers in Montreal night-clubs can wear overalls if they don't want to get good clothing damaged.

He made the statement after Lucien Provost, 27, complained that a blonde customer had ruined a $95 suit while he was giving her the heave-ho from a night spot.

"Case dismissed," said Judge Lachapelle. "In places of that kind, trouble is bound to occur. If you bouncers don't want to get good clothing damaged, you can wear overalls."

Council Shifts Appeal For Non-Pasteurization

Dairyman A. G. Lambrick appeared before city council's health committee yesterday to seek support for a campaign against compulsory pasteurization of milk.

Mr. Lambrick had not proceeded far with his submission, however, when the committee decided that the Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health would be a better body to hear it.

Mr. Lambrick told the committee that under new legislation, the provincial government was expected to order pasteurization, but that municipalities would have power to pass by-laws allowing sale of natural raw milk.

He produced a suitcase full of cards, all signed by Greater Victoria and Saanich peninsula residents, he said, and opposing compulsory pasteurization.

The cards, he said, represented "11,000 voices."

Private Broadcaster Asks More Freedom

broadcasters should have more freedom in establishing radio-TV facilities to serve the public, the royal commission on broadcasting heard Tuesday.

Clifford Sifton, member of a western publishing family and owner of Winnipeg's radio station CKRC, said CBC regulation hampers private stations in giving public service.

Without regulation of the type imposed by the CBC, Mr. Sifton said, the private stations would be able to provide the public with programs involving more imagination and ingenuity.

The present regulatory system under which the CBC both operates stations and networks and competes with the private broadcasters leans against private enterprise, Mr. Sifton said.

BACKS INDEPENDENT BODY

He supported the proposal of the Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters — representing most of the private radio and TV station operators—for an independent regulatory board above both the CBC and the private stations. This would enable private operators to do a better job.

Other points at Tuesday's session, the second day of royal commission hearings in the West:

1. Radio - Saint - Boniface Limitee, which operates a French-language station in a Winnipeg suburb, asked that the CBC and the government do more for French-language broadcasting in the West.

2. Winnipeg's St. Boniface College recommended stricter control by the CBC over the moral values of its radio and TV programs.

3. The Communist party, through the Manitoba committee of the Labor Progressive party, said the CBC should be financed by statutory parliamentary grants and asked for a tax on canned imported programs to encourage development of Canadian talent through the production of more live shows in Canada.

4. The Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, in its main national presentation, said the CBC should get its funds from general public revenues—the national treasury. It now gets most of its revenue from a 15-per cent special excise tax on radio and TV receivers, which it describes as unsatisfactory.

Meyland Rites Set Thursday

Last rites will be held in Sands funeral home at 3 p.m. Thursday for John Eric Meyland, 82, of South Turner, a resident of Victoria for 42 years, who died Saturday.

A native of Denmark, Mr. Meyland was a member of Nanaimo Lodge No. 110, AF & AM.

Sadist Officer

SHREWSBURY, England (Reuters) — Capt. Dennis John, 27, Tuesday was ordered dismissed from the Royal Artillery for behavior "unbecoming an officer and a gentleman."

John pleaded guilty at a court martial here to:

1. Forcing a private to lick his bare foot. The soldier, accused of having dirty feet, was first ordered to remove the captain's shoe and sock to see how clean his foot was.

2. Beating a naked soldier 30 times with his officer's stick.

3. Holding a lighted match against another soldier's stomach.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—
Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most grains were easier on the Winnipeg grain exchange, reflecting declines on United States markets. Some selling also was prompted by the threat of a shippers' strike on the Great Lakes.

However, there were reports of export interest in Canadian barley, flax and rye. The United Kingdom took small quantities of barley and parcel lots of flax. Continental buyers made small purchases of rye.

Western Oils Give Action To Dull Day

TORONTO (CP) — Stock market prices retreated Tuesday in the slowest session in almost seven weeks.

Western oils alone of the major components closed higher as gas issues responded to Tuesday's Ottawa announcement of an agreement on financing of the Trans-Canada natural gas pipeline. The volume of 6,429,000 shares was the lowest since March 21.

Banks and steels led the lower groups. Refining oils posted a few fractional gains after an initial setback. Motors were weak again. Algoma dropped $2.75 at $107.25 and Aluminium $2.25 at $133.50. Supertest common was off $2.50, Ford A $2, Bank of Nova Scotia $1.75 and International Paper $1.50 after a sharp gain Monday.

Merrill Island was a standout among the base metals, climbing 40 cents to $4 on drilling news from Chibougamau property.

Coast Copper slipped $1 and most seniors marked up fractional losses.

Prairie Oil and Gas led western oils upward with a 70-cent gain at $5.70. Home A and Calgary and Edmonton added ½. Dome Explor-ation was up 35 cents.

Steel Stocks Slip

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices Tuesday moved to lower levels in most sections of the industrial list at the close of active trading.

In a weak steel section, Algoma dropped 2½ and Stelco a point. Aluminium slipped two points in the base metals while Hudson Bay gained ½. Seagram lost ⅜ in the beverages.

Minnesota and Ontario dropped a point and Abitibi ½ as the papers declined. Shawinigan showed a ½ point gain in an otherwise weaker utilities section.

Refining oils were mixed in a ½ point range in moderate dealings but Trans Mountain lost ⅞ in the pipelines.

Mines were mixed to slightly lower in moderate dealings. Merrill Island led the winners with a 45 cent climb. Capital and New Formaque scored lesser gains. Del Rio advanced 10 cents in the Western oils while Hollinger eased ½ point in the seniors.

Strength in Rails

NEW YORK (AP) — Railroads were strong Tuesday, with prices on average near record peaks, but the stock market as a whole declined moderately.

Key issues in the carrier group displayed good strength and pulled the entire division ahead, and that in turn helped to give the market a better tone than it would have had otherwise.

Aircrafts maintained small plus signs in a quiet way. Steels were lower, and motors sagged. Also lower were chemicals, coppers, most oils and airlines.

Canadian issues were mixed. Granby Mining McIntyre and Walker-Gooderham all added ¼ and Dome Mines gained ¼. Aluminium Ltd. fell 1½. International Nickel lost 1¼ and Distillers Seagram slipped ⅝.

On the American exchange, Brazilian Traction and Great Sweet Grass Oil both lost ⅛ and Fargo Oil dropped 1-16.

Club Tells Police

Drivers Protest Flying Gravel

Several complaints of gravel trucks travelling on the Patricia Bay highway at such a speed that gravel is scattered along the road and dropped to bounce dangerously, have been received by the Victoria Automobile Club.

One club member said that his glasses were broken recently when gravel from a truck on the route rolled from the load through the open window of his car, while he was attemping to pass the truck.

PASSED ON

Memoranda on the complaints have been passed to the Saanich and Central Saanich police chiefs and the assistant commissioner of the RCMP for action.

A number of cases of motorists bewildered by the unmarked Fountain roundabout, and consequently making wrong turns to cause a traffic hazard will be forwarded by the Victoria Automobile Club to the city.

George I. Warren, club secretary, said yesterday he had received a letter from a person claiming she saw four incidents recently of puzzled drivers making a wrong guess and attempting to make headway against the traffic.

"There are no 'keep to the right' signs at any of the roads leading to the circle," she wrote. "Persons unacquainted with the circle wouldn't have a clue which way to go."

A further complaint was lodged against the left-turn outlet from Douglas onto Carey road, where drivers are expected to keep to the right of an "obscure" island which is "very difficult to see at night."

Final complaint brought to the club's attention was the lack of continuity and reason in the double-line separating lanes along Glanford avenue.

Sex Offender Given 10 Years

VANCOUVER (CP)—The stiffest sentence ever levied against a sex offender in Vancouver—10 years—was handed down Tuesday by Magistrate Gordon Scott.

Convicted of indecent assault on a five-year-old boy was Stanley Gordon Disdero, 38.

The boy was attending an East Hastings street theatre last Saturday. He went to a washroom and while there Disdero dragged him into a cubicle and attacked him.

Merger Should Reduce Labor Disputes—Wicks

Merger of Canada's two big labor organizations should result in fewer labor disputes "over the long-term pull," according to Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

"I think there will be fewer disputes because now the unions can speak with one voice," he said.

The minister attended the historic convention in Toronto which saw the Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor merge, to become the Canadian Labor Congress.

He said there was "some dissension" on a few points but that the only persons who could take comfort out of such disagreements were "Commies . . . and those bitterly opposed to labor."

Mr. Wicks said B.C. unions would not have to apply for recertification until they seek to merge with another union.

"It doesn't make sense to have unions decertified then a month later apply for recertification," he stated.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said yesterday it appeared his department would have a strike on its hands at Kelowna.

"Yes, there are seven men employed," said the minister. "Four voted to strike and three voted against it."

The unionists are carpenters employed by a small contracting firm in the Okanagan centre.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

A powerful representation of mainland golfers is assured for the B.C. Amateur championship to be played on the tough Gorge Vale course, May 18-21.

Bert Ticehurst, one of the finalists of the mainland open leads the entry from the other side, but his opponent of this Sunday, Johnnie Johnston, had not entered his name by May 7.

But there is still time, for entries do not close until May 11. So far 53 entries have been made. In addition to Ticehurst mainlanders include Walter McAlpine, Bob Kidd, Dave Berg, Len Morgan, Vic Marion, Ron Willey, Gordon MacKenzie, Brian Copp, Bert Daykin (a mainland open semi-finalist) and Kevin Riley.

Laurie Kerr, the Island open and Victoria city champion has put in his name to make a bid for his first B.C. title, and other Islanders entered are Bill McColl, Bob Fleming, Bob Morrison, George Bigelow, Norm Boden, Vic Painter, Vince Clarkson and Bob Hunt.

The open this year is limited to 99 players for there's an all-day, 36-holes qualifying test to be played on the opening day . . . Friday of next week, that is.

GOLFERS CAN HELP JUNIORS: Victoria golf officials gave a welcome at the weekend to C. E. Robinson, the new secretary of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, who extended his western tour on the request of B.C. Golf Association president Dr. George Bigelow to visit the city.

Mr. Robinson, who played a round over the Victoria Club course course with the B.C. president, later gave the local committee details of the National Golf Day competition which this year is being run by the RCGA. Hitherto the competition has been sponsored by a U.S. magazine.

Under the new set-up, all the proceeds from the contest will be returned to the provinces to be used for junior golf promotion.

Mr. Robinson said it was generally the principle that the funds should be spent more or less where collected. He said that the Victoria area would be entitled to its share of the B.C. proceeds.

As in previous years, Canadian golfers will be asked to match cards with the U.S. open and U.S. women's champions, who will be playing over the Rochester Club on the same day.

Mr. Robinson says the RCGA is considering the advisability of further nationalizing the day by pitting Canadian golfers against the Canadian open champions of both sexes, but meantime they are maintaining the link with the United States.

BANFF PREPARES FOR VISITORS: A number of Victoria golfers have made reservations for the CPR's special golf week at Banff—May 28 to June 2—and railway officials who visited the spa at the weekend report that the mile-high course will be in excellent shape by that time.

In addition to a week of non-competitive golf, visitors will have opportunities for fishing in the mountain lakes in the vicinity.

Harvy Newton of the CPR head office in Victoria has all the details. The party will leave Victoria Sunday, May 27, and arrive back Sunday, June 3.

CHAMPION OUSTED: The first round of the Victoria Club "A" championship match play brought out one or two minor surprises.

Jim Barry, the holder, bowed out before Doug Munro, the club's promising junior who just squeezed through the qualifying test after breaking the course junior record with 68 a few days earlier.

Another former champion, Einar Brynjolfson, was knocked out by Gary Shepard, while Don Campbell ousted Colin Rutherford.

In the other matches Dick Baiss beat Arthur Musgrave, Gordon Verley beat Doug Abbott, George Bigelow beat Don Woodhouse, Dick Clay beat Stan Haynes and Jack Galbraith beat Lionel Morrison.

TOURNAMENT WANTED FOR 1958: A special golf tournament is to be included in the projected sporting plans for the B.C. centennial celebrations in 1958.

Form of the tournament has yet to be discussed, but many golfers would like to see it take the shape of a Commonwealth meeting similar to the one held at St. Andrews in 1954 to mark the second centenary of the Royal and Ancient Club.

In that contest, amateur teams from Britain, Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand took part.

The next contest is tentatively fixed for South Africa, but a change in the order might be considered in view of the historic significance of the B.C. celebration.

If this does not materialize, either an open or amateur competition will come up for consideration.

UPLANDS PAR SHATTERED: A remarkable score of 14 under-par for the two rounds, enabled Frank Partington to win the Uplands Cup by the wide margin of six strokes.

Frank, who has a 21 handicap, shot 66 in the first round, which put him one off the pace. On Sunday, his net score was 60, giving him a total of 126 net for the two rounds.

Dale Dalziel, the 17-year-old schoolboy with an eight handicap, led at the half-way stage with 65, and followed it with another sub-par round of 67. His gross score was 148, which enabled him to tie with Frank Scroggs for the low gross.

Sports Writer Blasts Laws; Holman Meets Baker Tonight

A Vancouver sports writer, in an open letter to Brick Laws, blasted the president of the Vancouver Mounties Tuesday for "obscene abuse" and announced he has quit covering further Pacific Coast Baseball League games in Vancouver.

George Dobie of the Vancouver Sun said he called Laws early Saturday to ask important questions about the future prospects of the cellar-dwelling Mounties and apologized for disturbing Laws' sleep.

Dobie claimed Laws refused to answer the questions, and a short time later—called the writer back to pour "obscene abuse" into his ears in his open letter. Dobie said "you literally spewed out cuss words of such an obscene nature that I could not believe my ears."

Sun sports editor Earl Smith added in his column that Dobie quit writing baseball because he was thoroughly insulted by Laws.

Dobie said in his open letter that Laws asked him to forget the incident later that day at the ball park. The writer said he might have been able to do that, but the Sun believed that the "smutty, slanderous outburst" should be disclosed.

The Vancouver newspaper also lashed out at the faltering fortunes of the Vancouver ball club, formerly the Oakland Oaks, playing this year for the first time under the Vancouver banner.

Smith said "we're not so sure Laws is sincere about his resolve to bring Vancouver a coast league competitor. We're not even sure Brick Laws is the man to be operating any kind of baseball in Vancouver.

Yanks' Home Runs Clip Indians, 4-3; Braves Hold Lead

New York Yankees, helped along by three home runs and the steady pitching of Johnny Kucks, edged the Cleveland Indians, 4-3, Tuesday for their fifth straight triumph and boosted their American League lead to three-and-a-half games.

Kucks, pressed into service when Tommy Byrne was stricken with virus bronchitis early Tuesday morning, scattered 10 hits in scoring his third win of the season and enabling the Yankees to make it seven victories in eight metings with their three principal rivals — the Indians, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox.

Mickey Mantle, the American League's top clouter, smashed his 10th homer of the season in the sixth inning to pull the Yanks even at 2-2 and Hank Bauer and Elston Howard smashed seventh-inning homers off Early Wynn, who suffered his first setback after three wins.

It was the third loss in four games for the Indians, who dropped into third place behind the Red Sox. Jack Harshman, replacement for the ailing Ted Williams, singled home Billy Consolo in the 13th inning to give the Red Sox a 4-3 decision over Chicago.

Baltimore's surprising Orioles, in last place Saturday, stepped into the fourth position with their fifth straight triumph, a 7-4 decision over Kansas City. George Zuverink, 29-year-old righthander who in his 11-year career has failed to hang on with Cleveland, Cincinnati and Detroit, made his fourth relief appearance in three days and 13th of the season in choking off a ninth-inning Kansas City rally.

The National League pennant race remained tight as the Milwaukee Braves protected their percentage lead over the St. Louis Cardinals on the strength of a 5-0 victory over Pittsburgh. Warren Spahn picked up the victory on a three-hitter while Bob Friend was the loser although he gave up only six hits.

However, five were for extra bases with Joe Adcock, Del Crandall and Bobby Thomson smashing home runs and Bill Bruton running his hitting streak through an 11th game with a triple.

In the third inning, the big blow being Rip Repulski's three-run homer.

Big Don Newcombe posted his fourth victory against one defeat, spinning a three-hit shutout as the Brooklyn Dodgers downed Chicago Cubs, 6-0 to snap a three-game losing streak. Gil Hodges smashed a three-run homer in the first inning and singled home a run in the fourth as the Dodgers climbed back to the .500 mark.

Bolt, Fleck Fire One-Under 69s To Lead U.S. to 21-6 Triumph

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Tommy Bolt, the hot-putting Texan, and Jack Fleck, the U.S. Open champion, shot one-under-par 69s Tuesday to lead the United States to its most overwhelming victory over Canada in the international PGA matches.

Canada got only 2½ points in six singles matches while the United States rolled up 15½. Adding Monday's four-ball matches, in which the United States gained 5½ points to 3½ for Canada, the victory was 21-6. It was the fifth straight triumph for the U. S.

There have been wider differences in the score but this year's victory was the most lopsided on the basis of the comparative number of points. The margin was 3½ to 1. In other years the scoring was different, making the point totals larger.

Bolt beat Al Balding of Toronto 3 and 2 and made 2½ points to ½. Bolt won the first nine three up but they halved the second nine to give Balding his half-point.

Each match has a total value of three points, one awarded to the winner of each nine and one to the winner of the match.

LOSE ALL SINGLES

Cary Middlecoff won three points by defeating Gordon Brydson of Toronto 3 and 1. Middlecoff shot 71 over the 7,100 - yard Colonial Country Club course. Brydson had a 76.

Fleck crushed Jack Kay of Montreal 3 and 1 and earned three points. Kay shot an eight-over-par 78 as Fleck turned in one of the finest putting exhibitions this course ever saw.

Gene Littler notched 2½ points for the United States by beating Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., one up. Little shot a 72, Leonard 73. Th later got a half point by squaring the last nine.

Big Mike Souchak downed Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver 3 and 2 and won two points to Mawhinney's one. Mawhinney salvaged the point for Canada by taking the second nine one up. Souchak shot a 73, Mawhinney 75.

Ted Kroll won 2½ points to ½ for Murray Tucker of Toronto by beating the Canadian 2 and 1 with a 75 medal score. Tucker, who had a 77, got his half point by halving the last nine.

The United States received the Hopkins Trophy for its smashing triumph during which it lost only one four-ball match and no singles.

The trophy is contributed by John Jay Hopkins, New York industrialist who founded the International Golf Association.

SHARE LOW SCORE

Bolt and Fleck shared $100 which Hopkins put up for the low score of the day. Hopkins also pays each of the players from both countries $750 and expenses for participating in the matches.

Bolt's irons fairly smoked in his blazing round and he was putting for birdies on six of the first nine holes.

UCLA May Be Next in Line For Code Violations Penalty

Emmett Moore, president of the Pacific Coast Conference, said Tuesday that the case against UCLA, similar to the one against the University of Washington, will be reviewed at the annual conference meeting in Victoria later this month.

Moore said action against the California university for violations of the PCC athletic code will be high on the agenda of the summer meeting. He added that "it took so long to take care of the Washington situation that we had to put off the UCLA business until our Victoria meeting."

"SHOULD REMAIN"

Developments continued to unfold rapidly in the University of Washington's "slush fund" case with the president of the penalized university stating that it was his "purely personal" opinion that the school should remain within the Pacific Coast conference.

Dr. Henry Schmitz, the school leader, made the statement following published reports the school might withdraw as a result of Sunday's penalties ordered by the conference for athletic rule violations.

The conference announced after a special meeting at San Francisco Sunday when both the U of W and UCLA situation was discussed, that the University of Washington has been placed on a two-year probation. The penalty followed the result of investigations by conference commissioner Victor O. Schmidt into the Greater Washington advertising fund, more commonly known as the "Torchy Torrance Slush Fund."

Schmidt said that "some few" athletes had admitted having received "under the table" payments from the slush fund.

The two-year probation in effect limits the university entirely to dual athletic competition and prevents post-season participation in any sport for the 1956-57 and 1957-58 seasons. Biggest blow to the university will be the losing of $26,000 a year cut from the Rose Bowl football game receipts.

A good many university officials have blasted the probation and several are prying deeper into the matter. Don Wollet, University of Washington faculty representative has announced he will seek the identity of Husky football players who received money from the "slush fund."

It has also been reported that the National Collegiate Athletic Association may investigate the two-year probation, one of the stiffest penalties ever handed out to a university.

Anti-Polio Salk Shots Slated To Begin Today

Salk anti-polio inoculations will begin today in a number of schools in the Victoria-Esquimalt, Oak Bay, and Saanich and South Vancouver Island health districts.

In the Victoria-Esquimalt district, health officials said yesterday, children who will be entering school next September will be inoculated at the city health centre on Cook street May 14.

In the other two districts, medical health officers said, the pre-primary children will be inoculated in the schools, and parents who have signed consent cards will be notified of time and place.

Pinball Payoff Pains Proprietor

A 15-cent cash pay-off for three games on a pinball machine yesterday cost Yo Man, 1725 Quadra, $50 in city police court.

He pleaded guilty to keeping a common gaming house. The machine was confiscated.

* * *

Julian E. Pilotte, 510 Dunedin, who police said supplied a 20-year-old boy with one bottle of beer, was fined $50 for supplying liquor to a minor. Pilotte pleaded guilty.

The minor involved, Ted Adkin, 1645 Cedar, was fined $10 for being a minor in possession of liquor.

Charged as Edmund Keith Adkin, he was also fined $5 and ordered to pay $5 for damage he caused to a soap dispenser at Dominion hotel Saturday evening.

Charged with causing wilful damage, the youth denied the charge but added he knew who caused the damage.

Refusing a court suggestion that the allegedly guilty person could be summonsed to give evidence, Adkin was asked by the magistrate, "What do you expect me to think?"

"Guilty," Adkin replied.

"Your supposition is quite right," said Magistrate Henry Hall.

* * *

A two weeks remand was granted yesterday to Doris Buscombe, charged with attempted suicide. The Victoria woman is a chief prosecution witness in the police court trial of William Boucher, 735 Pandora, charged with robbery with violence.

* * *

Lee Jung, 829 North Park, and Calvin C. Cooper, 903 North Park, were fined $35 each when they pleaded guilty to separate charges of careless driving arising from collisions. Cooper's licence was restricted to business driving for one month.

George C. Richards, Gordon Head barracks, and Mary V. Aasen, 1924 Birch, were fined $25 each in city court for driving without licences.

* * *

Failing to stop for two pedestrians in a "stop when occupied" crosswalk zone cost Kathleen Davies, 905 Aral, a $15 fine.

* * *

John Davis, 139 Simcoe, was fined $10 for driving at night without headlights.

* * *

Julian G. Leland, 3105 Yew, paced at 30 miles-an-hour through a 15 miles-an-hour playground zone, was fined $15.

Well back to our subject. There's supposed to be some "meat" in this space of yours and mine so this morning we'll obey orders literally. Did you read a Letter to the Editor" in last Saturday's Colonist" It headed that column and was written from Fulford Harbor, Salt Spring Island, and was entitled "Old Lamb for New." The writer condemned the practice of buying imported lamb but condoned that of purchasing the home product. In other words you and I as consumers should realize that these are Mr. Fraser's words "The Gulf Islands and Vancouver Island can supply your needs in Victoria and surrounding towns of B.C. should have sufficient quantity (he is talking about lamb,

And so a word about lamb and how to cook it would seem to be in order. Though a few well known gourmets disagree what is worse in the opinion of this writer, than underdone lamb"

When season for lamb rea... gets started here's an intriguing recipe

LAMB SHANKS WITH BARBECUE SAUCE

Brown six lamb shanks seasoning to taste. 2 cups water, 2 cups cooked noodles or rice. Barbecue sauce (see recipe below). Simmer the shanks in very little water (not more than 2 cups) until meat falls from bone. Remove meat from bones. Place the cooked noodles or rice in a large oven dish. Arrange the meat on the noodles. Pour enough barbecue sauce over to moisten. Bake covered in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 30 minutes.

BARBECUE SAUCE

One small onion, chopped, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup tomato juice, 1 cup water, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Brown chopped onion in fat. Add remaining ingredients and bring to boil. Add to meat and noodles or rice.

In the world of Desserts with Frances Barton

There's something about a real, home-made tasting lemon pie that can't be equalled. And family and guests go into raptures over the pies . . . and indeed the many other lemon desserts that you can make so easily with Jell-O Lemon Pie Filling. It's the real old-fashioned kind of lemon filling, so fresh in flavor, that never fails to turn out perfect in consistency.

Here's one of my secrets for turning an otherwise ordinary meal into a feast to be remembered — a very, very special kind of lemon pie, that can go to any party!

BANANA LEMON CREAM PIE

1 package Jell-O Lemon Pie Filling
½ cup sugar
2½ cups water
1 egg
½ cup whipping cream
2 tbspns. sugar
1½ cups diced bananas
1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Combine pie filling mix, ½ cup sugar and ¼ cup of the water in saucepan. Add egg and blend well. Add remaining 2 cups water. Cook and stir until mixture comes to a full boil and is thickened (about 5 minutes). Remove from heat. Cool at room temperature until mixture is lukewarm (about 1 hour), stirring occasionally.

Combine cream and 2 tablespoons sugar. Beat until fluffy and thick. Fold half of the whipped cream into lemon mixture. When fold in diced bananas. Pour into pie shell. Chill. Spread remaining whipped cream on top.

★ Jell-O Lemon Pie Filling is so easy to make! No double boiler — just a pan, a cup, a spoon!

You'll find that there are times when tarts fit better into menus than a pie does . . . and they can be so festive. Next time you make tarts, try something really tempting — one of the wonderful fillings you make with Jell-O Lemon Pie Filling. From the very first bite you know that the fresh, fresh lemon flavor is from real lemons!

Banana Cream Tarts
A delicious treat for the refreshment tray. Fill baked tart shells with the Banana Lemon Cream Filling above.

Meringued Tarts
Fill flaky tart shells with Jell-O Lemon Pie Filling made according to package directions. Top with meringue . . . brown delicately in the oven.

Chiffon Tarts
For a change fold the meringue right into the hot filling — makes a chiffon-type lemon filling that's light and wonderful!

Here's a recipe for a special kind of lemon cookie that's sure to go over big with guests . . . and with the family. In fact they're so tasty you'll have to put a lock on the cookie jar!

LEMON COOKIES

1 cup sifted pastry flour
½ tspn. double-acting baking powder
¼ tspn. baking soda
¼ tspn. salt
½ cup butter or vegetable shortening
½ cup sugar
1 package Jell-O Lemon Pie Filling
1 egg, well beaten
1½ cups quick-cooking oats

Sift flour once, measure and add baking powder, soda, and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar and pie filling mix gradually, mixing thoroughly. Add egg and beat until mixture is light and fluffy. When add flour gradually, and mix well. Add oats. Shape dough into small balls. Place on greased baking sheet, about 2 inches apart. Flatten slightly with a fork. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Vandals Destroying Parks

Nanaimo Seeks Action

NANAIMO—A serious wave of vandalism has been launched against city parks, Nanaimo parks board was told Monday.

Bill Turner, parks foreman, called on the board to take "drastic action" to curb the destruction.

He told commissioners that "something drastic has to be done or else the parks will be smashed up entirely."

The foreman said Comox Road park had been the main target for the vandals. "It has been treated very, very badly," he said.

The veranda at the park has been torn up, railings broken, a cement bench pitched through a fence and rocks strewn from the flower beds all over the playground.

Locks on the swings had also been picked and some had even been broken off, reported Mr. Turner.

Downtown rest rooms had also borne some of the brunt of the damage. Locks had been forced off the doors. "The same thing has happened at number two playground. It is going on all around the playgrounds. There is a definite move to tear up the playgrounds," he said.

Nanaimo RCMP had been asked to attempt to catch the culprits, but had had no success.

Commissioner Mrs. Helen Beevor-Potts thought the outbreak may have occurred because the swings were not opened on May-1.

Pender Harbour Trio Rescued From Sunken Ship

PENDER HARBOR, B.C. (CP)—Two men and a woman who drifted four hours huddled on the cabin roof of their submerged gillnetter were rescued unharmed early yesterday.

They were Arthur Scoular, 26, Billy Brown, 21, and Dolores Brown, 19, all of Pender Harbor.

Their 34-foot boat Little Poacher was swamped by heavy swells over the stern six miles offshore about 11 p.m. Monday night and sank with no warning.

They scrambled onto the cabin roof and flashed distress calls.

Several boats passed by, but at 3.30 a.m. the tug General Caldwell came alongside, and skipper Ted Bennett took them aboard.

Parking Fine Of $5 'Too Much'

PORT ALBERNI — Five dollars is too much to pay for a parking infraction, according to city counucil.

But before an amendment is proposed to the traffic by-law, a thorough study will be made by the traffic committee.

A $5 minimum fine is now levied for all infractions of the by-law.

Nanaimo Spends $90,000 on Roads

NANAIMO—City council here authorized $90,000 Monday evening to be spent on streets.

Installation of storm drains and culverts on Gordon street, Beach drive, Finlayson street, Blythe and Dufferin streets as well as in other areas, totals $10,830.

More than $9,000 will be spent on the lower portion of Brechin road. The city will also get together with the province to apportion responsibility for dust laying.

Work will also be done on the upper section of Brechin road, Front street walk and street improvements. Construction of Pride road will amount to $1,900.

City council will also spend $1,100 on Northumberland and Cadogan; $1,600 on Sunderland and Dufferin and $6,000 in preparation of Terminal avenue for paving.

Asphalt pavement will go in the Acadia district, Fraser street and Comox road.

About $1,870 is also earmarked for installation of sewer services before paving on arterial highways, $5,500 for sewer surveys and $3,400 for dust laying on gravel roads.

Building Booming

PORT ALBERNI—Permits representing construction valued at $1,030,650 have been issued so far this year, an increase of 300 per cent over the same period last year, Port Alberni building inspector reports.

Concrete Mixing Protested

PORT ALBERNI — Referred to the health department by city council this week was the second complaint by William Riley of alleged nuisances caused by Wright Mix Concrete Ltd., his neighbor on Rogers street.

Council had interviewed Alberni's Mayor Ben Wright of the concrete works after receiving the first complaint, and was assured that steps are being taken to comply with Mr. Riley's requests in connection with rubbish infringing on his property and the noise emanating from the industry.

Mr. Riley, in his second letter, offered to provide evidence of contravention of the city's anti-noise by-law, but it was pointed out by City Clerk H. D. Thain that the by-law covered only "unnecessary" noise and therefore could not be regarded as referring to that resulting from the ordinary sounds coming from the industry.

USEFUL BIRD

The Australian kookaburra, about the size of a crow, destroys many harmful insects and rodents.

Port Alberni Problem

Backstop Suggested To Stop Stray Balls

PORT ALBERNI — City Solicitor E. A. Dinsmore has offered a solution to the hazard of stray balls from Recreation park baseball diamond but, he stated, he was not prepared to say whether the measure would spoil the game.

A backstop immediately behind home base is the only answer, he said, but it will cut down the effectiveness of the catcher in retrieving foul balls.

W. K. Evans, 313 Seventh avenue north, reported that a stray ball had just missed hitting his wife on the head. Another, he said, knocked plaster from under a front window of his house.

Nanaimo Chamber Gets $4,850

NANAIMO—Chamber of Commerce here will be granted a total of $4,850 by city council.

Included in this figure will be $3,000 for industrial purposes, $350 for membership and other fees, and $1,500 for tourist publicity.
